

IDF Online Free Course

Biosimilar Insulins

Who is eligible? All health professionals involved in diabetes management and care

What will I Learn?

- Global prevalence of diabetes mellitus
- Definitions and nomenclature of biosimilars
- Difference between a biosimilar and generic treatment
- Global picture of biosimilar insulin use
- Have a clear understanding of regulations and processes involved in the evaluation of biosimilar treatments
- Understand the general principles to demonstrate biosimilarity
- Have a clarity on immunogenicity and interchangeability concepts related to biosimilars
- Discuss the role of biosimilar insulins in treatment of diabetes mellitus and ways to integrate them into practice
- Understand the barriers for using biosimilar insulins and techniques to overcome them

Benefits for Learner

- Latest evidence-based clinical recommendations
- Continued professional development and learning
- IDF Certificate of Completion
- CME from the European Union of Medical Specialists (UEMS)
- Global multidisciplinary community of diabetes professionals

Assessment & Awards

IDF Certificate of Completion and 1 European CME credit

How to register

Go to www.idfdiabeteschool.org
Click on Register
Click on Free Courses

Key features

Certificate of Completion & ECMEC

Interactive Exercises

Case studies

Additional Resources

Self-paced Learning

Course Modalities

Course Language: English

Duration: 60 mins (excluding additional resources)

Browsers: IE 9 & above, Chrome, Firefox, OS9 and above (all iPad devices)